

REPORT ON FIVE DAYS TRIP TO JAIPUR & RANTHAMBOR

After final exams for the session 2013-2014, as part of the yearly ritual, 255 Asianites and 13 teachers left Asian Acres at the break of the dawn on March 25th, 2014 for Jaipur and Ranthambore. The tour was planned by school travel's agent 'Dang tour & travels'. We travelled by Bus and train during this trip.

After reaching safely in Jaipur and settled down in hotel, Asianites were taken for site seeing at Jantar-Mantar, where Asianites were told about how in ancient days time was predicted and how they studied about stars and planets. Next they were taken to 'City Palace' where they saw various artifacts, huge silver bowls etc. After lunch we proceeded for Ranthambore and reached there at night.

Third day early in the morning we went for Jungle Safari where children saw wild boars, peacocks, deer and various birds. Children were disappointed because they could not see the tigers.

Fourth day again Asianites were taken for sightseeing to 'Amber Fort' in Jaipur, where they saw various tunnels built for the protection. They also saw the glass room and various artifacts. There were various costumes displayed over these.

On 29th March we all returned back to Asian Acres. Really it was a memorable trip.
