FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

Greetings dear readers!

Nelson Mandela famously said that,
"Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world".

And for a school, which prides itself in being a wholesome educational institution, academics is a cornerstone of that wholesome education. Therefore, it was truly a matter of pride for us, when our students produced spectacular results in the Board examination this year. With high class averages and even higher individual scores, students have more than proven their academic acumen.

Establishing his mettle at the top of class X, Dhairya Sarit scored a scintillating 99.2%, followed closely by Hridhvik Sahu at 98.6%. In class XII, girls bagged the top honours with Aanchal Matta topping the class at 97.8 and very close behind her at 97.6 was Manvi Malik. Well done, children – onto greater glories now!

These past couple of months were also commendable for the outstanding achievements accomplished by our students and their mentors in diverse fields such as sports, debates, MUNs, business pitch competitions, dance, and music and what have you!

In sports, our teams have established their forte across varied sports such as cricket, basketball, badminton, football, table tennis and chess. The Principal's office is now beaming with trophies of all shapes and sizes – a glowing testament of the school's sporting prowess.

Added to the sports trophies are victories in inter-school Mathematics competition, inter-school visual and performing arts competition, inter-school recitation competition and multiple trophies won at several MUN events across schools and colleges. In the English debates too, the year started off on a promising note as our team bagged the Asian Challenge and placed Runner's up in the extremely challenging Hugh Catchpole debates conducted by the RIMC.

Our teachers too were on their feet, attending training workshops on NEP, teaching of Social Science, Adolescent Education and Early Signs of Developmental Challenges. The last one extended to individual counselling of students who needed the assistance.

Therefore, to sum it up, it was a superb beginning of a new Term and we look towards another rewarding year!

God Bless!
